

A<sup>2</sup>
--Recombinant, attenuated infectious laryngotracheitis viruses containing a deletion or deletions in a glycoprotein gene are provided. Also provided are glycoprotein genes, gD, gI, gG and gE as well as other viral genes.--

NE
IN THE CLAIMS

Please cancel claims 44-52 and 54-86 without prejudice. Applicant elects to pursue those claims identified by the Examiner as Group 1 claims (claims 39-43 and 53) in an Office Action in the parent case dated September 25, 1996. These claims are drawn to nucleic acids encoding glycoprotein D (gD) and a method of diagnosis. In addition, applicant wishes to pursue new claims 87-92.

Support for these claims can be specifically found on page 29, lines 8-9, page 50, lines 1-10, in the sequence listing and also elsewhere throughout the specification.

The pending claims are thus as follows:

Sub. B<sup>1</sup>
39. An isolated nucleic acid molecule encoding an infectious laryngotracheitis virus glycoprotein D.

2
40. The isolated nucleic acid molecule of claim 39, wherein the isolated nucleic acid molecule is genomic DNA.

B
41. The isolated nucleic acid molecule of claim 39, wherein the isolated nucleic acid molecule is cDNA.

Sub. B<sup>2</sup>
42. An isolated RNA molecule which is derived from the isolated nucleic acid molecule of claim 39.

48
90. (new) The recombinant DNA molecule of claim 87, wherein the recombinant DNA molecule further comprises DNA encoding infectious laryngotracheitis virus glycoprotein I.

49
91. (new) A host cell comprising the recombinant DNA
molecule of claim 87.

50
92. (new) A host cell comprising the recombinant DNA
molecule of claim 90.

Applicant notes that a computer (disk) copy of the sequence listing has already been filed in the parent case. Applicant is submitting a Request for Transfer of Computer Readable Form of Sequence Listing along with this Preliminary Amendment.
